CARPENTER Comfort Cushioning Products

April 14th, 2010

Dear Valued Customer:

The producers of polyol have announced significant increases to the urethane foam industry to take place at the middle and end of this month. These increases are due to a sharp run up in the cost of propylene.

As a result of these increases, we must raise prices on all of our urethane foam products by 20%, effective May 10th, 2010. Your salesperson will provide you with your new prices as soon as possible.

We recognize that while the economy is showing signs of improvement, these remain very difficult times. We will continue to do all that we can to offer you the highest quality products at the most economical prices. We value and appreciate your business and thank you for your continued support and understanding.

Sincerely,

Barry Bailey
